Brian Murphy has a general corporate and commercial law practice, with a focus on estate planning for business owners.

He advises entrepreneurs, family-owned businesses, and private corporations on corporate structuring and reorganizations, shareholder arrangements, commercial leasing, mergers and acquisitions, and estate freezes, as well as long-term wealth preservation strategies. As a dual-qualified lawyer in Canada and Ireland, Brian brings a global perspective to commercial transactions.

His experience in the financial services sector compliments his legal expertise and supports his practical, business-focused approach to advising clients. His clients appreciate his ability to break down legal terminology and provide clear, straightforward advice.

Brian develops comprehensive estate plans for business owners and corporate succession strategies, along with practical, tax-efficient solutions tailored to his clients' business and family objectives, in collaboration with their accountants and financial advisors.
